Future steps ....

- In this regard survey targets needs of SMEs, especially in the trade for further education i.e. need for personnel with experience in the following areas:
  - Communication skills;
  - Communication with the client;
  - Information skills and knowledge;
  - Strengthening organizational skills ...
- Here it is very important to mention that it is necessary to improve the implementation of the concept of lifelong learning.
- This can be most effectively achieved through the promotion of this type of learning, through the further development of a qualifications framework for the sector and the development of standards and educational programs, through promotion of entrepreneurial learning, connecting science and business sectors as well as the involvement of industry in research.
- In order to harmonize the labor market and educational programs it is necessary to establish stronger cooperation between the social partners and policy makers in order to promote the unpopular jobs and the creation of future stability in the labor market.
